Vidya Balan's naughty and hebbidi will begin the Indian Film Festival of Melbourne 2020

The Indian Film Festival of Melbourne 2020 will debut with Vidya Balan's film Natkhat and Marathi films Hebbdi. The festival will be fully virtualized this year due to the corona epidemic. The event will start from 23 October and will run till 30 October.

Let me tell you that the Indian Film Festival of Melbourne, held in the month of August every year for the last 10 years, is being virtualized this year. According to festival director Mitu Bhowmik, films will be streamed for free at the festival. At the same time, the entry of short film competition at the festival this year has set a record.

According to the information, the virtual festival is to begin with the film Natkhat, starring Vidya Balan, which also marks the actress' production debut. The film is a struggling story of a mother who teaches her young son about  equality and dispels misunderstandings. Natkhat premiered on YouTube as part of the prestigious VR One Global Film Festival and will now be screened at IFFM. It will premiere in a double bonanza package. Which also includes the Marathi film Hebbadi. This is the story of a young boy who has an obstacle to talk, this year the festival will offer over 60 films in 17 languages.
